“ I will truly miss my beloved sister-in-law Corrine. Believe it not, I was present when she and my brother Paul met for the first time, having been introduced by a family friend and matchmaker. Apparently it was love at first sight, or almost. At age 8, I was the most nervous little flower girl at their wedding. She was an enormous part of my childhood and growing up, almost like a second mother. Through thick and thin, she was always there, the first one in line to volunteer and do the work. She and my brother were true partners in life and love. Rest in peace my dearest Corrine.
